General Motors Science Show At A.H.S. Today

"Liquid sunshine" powers a portable radio. A small platform slides across the floor on a thin layer of air. And a "misbehaving" suitcase illustrates principles used in modern guidance systems.

Agawam students will see these and other interesting demonstrations when the famed General Motors science show, Previews of Progress, appears today at the Senior High School at 9:30 a.m. and the Junior High School at 1:45 p.m.

"We seek through Previews to inspire more young people to make science and engineering their career and provide the trained talent America must have to keep pace with the promise of the future," James M. Roche, president of General Motors, declares.

Dick Poole and Dave Gosler of General Motors Public Relations Staff will narrate the 45-minute, non-commercial presentation. They are one of seven teams that take the show to more than a million students each year.

One of the highlights of the show is a fuel cell, a device that converts chemical energy into electrical power. Potentially one of the most significant scientific developments of the century, the fuel cell manufactures electricity with much greater efficiency than is now obtained from conventional power plants.

In the show, a few drops of "liquid sunshine" added to the

PROMENADERS

By June and Elmer Roosa

We at the Agawam Promenaders are pretty well excited about our next caller. He is one of the youngest (therefore liveliest) and smoothest callers in the area. "Buzz" Chapman is a personable young fellow who calls a "good" dance and we all welcome him. The date is Oct. 28 and the time is 8 p.m. That is our regular Friday evening dance time. The place is also familiar to all our friends, but we love to have strangers drop in too. We dance at Robinson Park School on Begley St.

We hereby issue an invitation to all western-style dancers to join us in the fun and relaxation of square dancing once again on Friday, the 28th—to Buzz Chapman. See You There!

FALL HAZARDS

"Fallen leaves contribute to dangerous driving conditions," Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin said today. "The beauty of Fall foliage could turn to tragedy when these leaves become wet and slippery on our roads."

The Registrar also added that children at play in piles of leaves could become targets for drivers unless extreme caution is used.

The end of Daylight Saving this year will coincide with Halloween and create further hazards to unwary drivers and concern to safety officials. "Motorists using the highways during hours of dusk may find it difficult to make quick visual adjustments from daylight to darkness. Children frolicking in the streets intent upon Halloween make-believe may be concealed by the shadows. My advice is to SLOW DOWN at SUNDOWN and be alert for danger," said the Registrar.

Pennies Go Long Way

UNICEF Trick or Treaters are identified by their official orange and black collection carton. It bears a symbolic silhouette of a mother and child.

While each carton contains only small coins, even after a successful evening, each one of these coins can accomplish a lot. A penny will buy six large cups of milk. A nickel provides the penicillin to cure two children of yaws, an ugly, crippling tropical disease. A dime means the antibiotics to save a young victim of trachoma from blindness. A quarter buys the BCG vaccine to protect 20 children against tuberculosis.

Since UNICEF's inception, among others, about 206 million young persons have been vaccinated against TB; over two million persons have been treated for leprosy; over 103 million have been examined and 43 million—half of them mothers and children—have been treated for yaws; about 22 million children and adults have been treated for trachoma.

At the same time, UNICEF is assisting teacher training program in 60 countries; and vocational projects in 10 countries to provide young people with manual skills. UNICEF has helped equip 7,000 schools and teacher-training institutes and some 300 vocational training institutions.

When they are given to UNICEF, Halloween pennies go a long way.

meins on buttered rice, buttered carrots, peanut butter w/honey on rye bread, Halloween donut, milk.

Tuesday: Shepherds pie with hamburger, corn and mashed potatoes, cabbage/green pepper salad, buttered pan biscuits, baked apricot pudding, milk.

Wednesday: Square hamburgers on buttered rolls, mustard, relish, buttered spinach, Boston cream pie square, milk.

Thursday: Orange juice, homemade pea soup w/potatoes, chopped ham salad on rye bread, celery/carrot sticks, fresh pear, milk.

Friday: Tuna grinder (tuna

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By Bill Chiba

Bill Trumbull announces that the Agawam Sportsmen Club will hold turkey shoots every Sunday til the first of the year except Dec. 4 and 25. Refreshments including hot dogs and coffee will be served the shooters.

Bob Cooley wound up the bow season in Vermont in fine style. Bob successfully downed a very large doe with a heart shot Sunday morning. The deer is estimated to weigh 125 pounds (field dressed). When Tony Godek, Feeding Hills, and I left at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Bob was the only one to drop a deer. Out still hoping and searching were Ralph Davis, Noel Brown and son, Bob,

Ted Cesan, and Bob Rawson. From all reports, it is beginning to look like a record will be broken for deer being shot with the bow and arrow in Vermont this year.

Full House

Moe and Margaret Eaton asked that hunters interested in using their farm as headquarters during the coming rifle season in Vermont (Nov. 12 is opening day) contact them very early. Reservations have been pouring in and the "regulars" could find themselves without beds by opening day . . . please contact Moe immediately. Elmdale Farm is noted for the buck harvest every year. In 1963, nine bucks were hanging in Moe's barn by Sunday Saturday. Dave Blackburn, Agawam, bagged a monster that weighed 187 pounds field dressed. If you want the best in Vermont hunting, Elmdale Farm is your best bet.

Tony Godek and I hunted Piermont, N. H., for deer with the bow and arrow this past weekend. It is the general consensus of opinion that there are very few deer in New Hampshire (compared to Vermont) but they are very large. Well, we hunted an area known as Clay Hollow off of Indian Pond Road that proved to be out of the ordinary for New Nope — they're the incredible Dino Skating Quartet that delight everyone in the "Flintstone Fantasy" production, one of 6 segments in the all new 27th Edition of Ice Capades which opens at the Eastern States Coliseum Wednesday, November 23 for just 10 nights and 8 matinees.

Hampshire. I am very enthused over the area. The first morning I saw two deer and moved 11 that I had heard take off through the thick growth. That evening I had a deer come into the apple tree that I had staked out. I took position in an abandoned loggers shack . . . the deer strode down to the tree and I found that I could not get a clear shot out of the back door, so I tip-toed over to the window and drew back the arrow—but!! I stepped back one more time to balance myself and placed my big foot on a piece of broken glass. The noise that resulted scared that deer so bad that it ran zig zagging up the mountain and into the next county. The area is dotted with wild apple trees and the trees are loaded with apples. A natural forage for deer plus the hard woods up the mountain a piece prove to be a natural feed bonanza.

I jawed a while with Ed French, who lives on the corner of the road we took to arrive at the hunting area, and was impressed by the hunting camp he is constructing to accommodate hunters opening day, Nov. 10. Ed lives on Indian Pond Road in Pierpont, Grafton County. If you are planning to hunt New Hampshire this year, believe me when I say that his camp and accommodations are a good bet . . . plus the deer are there. In fact, I saw bear tracks in the soft mud and evidence that he was under several trees gorging himself on apples. Could you ask for anything better, deer (large ones), and the very good chance of bagging a bear.

cells provide enough energy to operate a portable radio.

Another example of solar energy, the amazing Sunmobile, will be demonstrated. The 15-inch model car depends on eight photo-electric cells for its operation. The button-like cells on the hood of the car convert light rays into electricity which drives a small electrical motor inside the car. A 300-watt lamp is used to simulate the sun's rays in the show. As the light strikes the cells, the Sunmobile moves across a table.

When you think about:

What Frank Bellotti has said:

"Richardson (as Ass't Sec'y of H.E.W.) compiled a record of brutal disregard for all that is creative, compassionate and just." (Boston Globe, 10/19/66)

What Frank Bellotti has said:

"If he's running on his record as U.S. Attorney, he never obtained an indictment." (Beverly Times, 7/16/66)

What Frank Bellotti has said:

"My opponent steadfastly refuses to author a comprehensive program against crime and corruption and persists with only a lip service approval of this sensitive and compelling issue." (North Adams Transcript, 10/11/66)

What Frank Bellotti has said:

"Under Richardson's leadership, the state failed to implement the federal Medicaid program, which would have provided medical assistance to 240,000 persons in Massachusetts." (Springfield Republican, 10/16/66)

What the truth is:

In 1965, more than $50,000,000 in federal aid was given to the people in Massachusetts because of the pioneer legislation Elliot Richardson drafted and steered through Congress as Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare — for schools and hospitals, for aid to the blind, the aging, the disabled, and for help for our retarded children and mentally ill.

What the truth is:

While U.S. Attorney, Richardson obtained 537 indictments and informations, and he won convictions in 90% of all the cases under his direction and supervision.

What the truth is:

Throughout the current campaign, Richardson has persistently set forth to the voters, thorough, detailed recommendations on fighting crime — a 5-point program against crime in the streets, a 5-point program to combat organized crime, and a 17-point program to rid the State of corruption in government.

What the truth is:

The State's Medicaid program, set into motion by an Executive Order drafted by Richardson, has been approved by the Federal Government and will provide medical help for 370,000 people in Massachusetts in need of medical care.
